

NEIL MURRAY
OVERNIGHTER
THE GET BACK TO THE COUNTRY TOUR
CONTINUES...

"Neil Murray is simply one of the greatest singer/songwriters Australia has ever produced....his music is hard hitting and true to life... it's real..., just like the man himself."

Lee Kernaghan, Australian Of The Year

"Get Back To The Country" came to me at the Beverly Laurel Motor Hotel (LA) in September 2006. I was on my way home from Nashville. I'd met a lot of expats, both there and in LA who were trying to make it in the States. As if that was the holy grail. A lot of 'em were homesick too. I felt sorry for them. I told 'em, "Get home ya bastards!" I wouldn't trade my life in Australia for that dream. Each to their own I guess." Neil Murray

Singer, songwriter, author, activist and founding member of pioneering indigenous rock group The Warumpi Band, Neil Murray is one of Australia's most respected performers. Since 1989 he has forged a solo recording career that has produced the albums 'Calm & Crystal Clear', 'These Hands', 'Dust', 'The Wondering Kind', 'Going the Distance', the 2CD compilation 'About Time', the Spoken Word Album 'Spoken' and now the new album 'Overnighter'. After more than two decades of writing, recording and performing, Neil Murray was awarded the APRA song of the year in 1995 for 'My Island Home' which was originally written for the Warumpi Band and re-recorded by Christine Anu. 'My Island Home' has become something of an unofficial anthem and featured in the closing ceremony of the Sydney 2000 Olympics.

Neil Murray performs regularly at festivals and live music venues in Australia and overseas and recently returned from his second visit to the US with gigs and showcases in NYC, LA, Nashville and Atlanta. Since the release of 'Overnighter' through ABC/Warner Music in late 2007, Neil has been on the road, literally 'getting back to the country'.
