

LOVE THAT HEALS

(Neil Murray)

I've been waiting for a thousand years
Waiting here just for you
I am the woman you've been searching for
I am the woman right next to you
With a love that heals

So much trouble in the world today
So much pain and misery
Oh yes I know that you're breaking down
And I know you're in desperate need

For a love that heals
For a love that heals

We sing the songs that turn the night into day
We sing to bring the joyous rain
We sing for children to come into our lives
We sing to take their pain away

With a love that heals
With a love that heals
With a love that heals
Only love can heal

I am a woman who is waiting here
Waiting for her man to come
All day long on this empty beach
Every day I sing the song

For a love that heals
For a love that heals

We sing the songs that turn the night into day
We sing to bring the joyous rain
We sing for children to come into our lives
We sing to take their pain away

Ya, hey, hey

I've been singing for a thousand years
Can you hear me calling out to you?
All I know is that we're breaking down
And I know that you're worried too

For a love that heals
For a love that heals
For a love that heals

Only love can heal

Only love can heal
Only love only love only love
For a love that heals

Only love only love can heal
For a love that heals
Only love only love
For a love that heals

For a love that heals

For a love that heals
