

NEVER CHANGE

(Sammy Butcher/Neil Murray)

Well he's standin' watchin' the sun go down
That big ol' mountain on the plain is lookin' at him now
Desert children running by
They remind him of his life

He's a man he's not so young
He's got a family of his own
And all his friends have moved away
Some have even passed on
He thinks why does he stay
Why not he too, move away

But these mountains never change
People come and go
But he still stays in his old home
For these mountains never change

Sometimes he sees them, his old friends
When he goes into town
They talk and laugh, some drink too much
And end up sorry for themselves
For the days no longer there
For the future they can't share

But these mountains never change
People come and go
But he still stays in his old home
For these mountains never change

He thinks why does he still stay
Why not he too, move away, yeah
But these mountains never change
These mountains never change
People come and go
But he still stays in his old home
For these mountains never change
They'll keep callin' you again
These mountains never change
