

WITH YOU TONIGHT

(Neil Murray)

Some days I feel I'll never be free of this driving wheel
When the sun goes down, I'm still out here making ground
With you, my love, so far from me, it tears me up

When night comes down I'm pullin' out from some dusty town
While you dream, I'll travel way beyond the Cooper Channel and Reach by morning, the barksy plains, when I know you will be rising

Do you ever think of me when you make your morning tea?
Or do my hurtin' words still echo?
Will you ever come to see, you meant everything to me?
I'm sorry I lost my temper
I wish I was with you tonight

I know I'm wrong to leave you on your own so long
But I'm tied to this rig and this long haul game
Is all I know to do
I want to believe you'll always be waiting for me
But some days this distance can lead my thoughts
To places I don't wanna go

Do you ever think of me?
Am I smiling in your memory?
Or do my hurting words still echo?
Will you ever come to see, you meant everything to me?
I'm sorry I lost my temper

You know a jealous mind keeps working overtime
I'm sorry I lost my temper

I wish I was with you tonight
I'd be right, if I was with you tonight
I'd make it right, if I was with you tonight
