

KIND OF DAY

(Neil Murray)

It was the kind of day you wished would go on forever when you and your sweetheart were together And a change in the weather was never gonna come

The kind of day that makes us forget of any worries we had or past regrets
And you would never lose a bet
When it's placed on the number one

The kind of day when you just have to breathe
and all your sorrows are bequeathed to grow all the happy trees in heaven

The kind of day when skies are blue and all creation is humming in tune and your sweetheart is with you forever

The kind of day when the wind just drops
And it's so still like time has stopped
And it seems like you can stay in one spot and never have to go anywhere

The kind of day you're bound to miss at sometime in the future in distress and then you wish you could get back to where it is

and all your sorrows are bequeathed
to grow all the happy trees in heaven

and all creation is humming in tune
and your sweetheart is with you forever
