

REMEMBERING 9/11

(Neil Murray/Bob Saporiti - Universal Music Publishing/Villa Villa Music)

In Nashville, Bob Saporiti and I met up to co-write; it just happened to be that date. It was difficult to ignore the media and what that anniversary now represents, so we ran with it looking for a different angle. Everyday -including that particular day- there is an anniversary of grief or joy for people somewhere.

I'll always remember 9/11
That was the greatest day
Our child was born on that September morn
So small and helpless she lay

I'll always remember 9/11
I know exactly where I was
That's also the day my best friend passed away
On the freeway out of Denver

Oh and by the way something else happened that day
In New York city so they say
I'll always remember 9/11

To all the children born on 9/11
Wherever in the world you are
I hope that you grow
and peace you come to know
For your life is a blessing

To everyone who died on 9/11
Wherever in the world that was
If I could know
and to your funeral go
I'd wanna be with your family

Oh and by the way something else happened that day
In New York city so they say
Yes I'll always remember 9/11
I'll always remember 9/11
