

SING YOUR DESTINY

(Neil Murray)

I feel my life a mystery
So many things I cannot see
Won't somebody let me know
Show me where the dreamin' goes
Well the spirit's gone from a dusty place
The cattle have worn the land away
The crows are flying long and low
Away out where the dreamin' goes

There's a bird of mystery
Singin' out your destiny

History you can't ignore
I'm not talking behind the library door
Did somebody mention bones
Scattered on the dreamin' road
Do you understand the feelin' here?
We paid in blood, our lives were dear
There is a land that waits for you
If it speaks to me, it'll speak to you

There's a bird of mystery
Callin' out your destiny
Sing your destiny

So many things left unresolved
There's a lot I wish I'd never known
By the time I learn I'll be too old
To start out on that dreamin' road
But I hope and pray someday I'll know
Just where it is I have to go
And all the longing will unfold
All the stories will be told
More precious than a pot of gold
They say that's what the dreaming holds

There's a bird of mystery
Singin' out your destiny
Can you hear that bird of mystery
Callin' out your destiny
Sing your destiny
